during the immediate period before world war two the raf modified its command structure to rationalize for rapid expansion bomber command was divided into six operational groups each flying the same type of aircraft in 1939 5 group was flying the handley page hampden a fast modern aircraft that carried a large payload however during the early daylight raids into enemy occupied europe it suffered great losses due to its defensive armament leaving too many blind spots the group now turned to night bombing and mine laying operations during november 1940 the first avro manchesters entered service but were to prove dangerously unreliable it was not until the avro lancaster began arriving in strength that the group began its proud history of successful and often highly dangerous raids into the reich the most famous of which was no 617 squadron's attack on the mohne eder and sorpe dams between 1939 and 1945 the group flew 70 351 sorties with the loss of 1 888 aircraft this book contains a lengthy narrative of the group's operations and contains individual squadron statistics their commanding officers stations and aircraft losses it provides a detailed reference for one of the raf's most important and successful operational groups

this study considers a set of buildings in the lowland maya area of mexico and central america defined by its association with the indigenous architectural classification otoot dwelling these have proven resistant to archaeologists attempts to develop effective classifications and to address their functions and roles in classic maya society this investigation takes as a point of departure the terms attached to the structures by the ancient maya elites themselves because hieroglyphic texts that contain architectural terms occur on lintels doorjambs monumental stairways etc and because the terms typically refer to the structure in which the monument is mounted it becomes possible to link specific buildings and building groups with ancient maya ways of classifying constructing and imagining inhabited space a bridge can therefore be built between the hieroglyphic and the archaeological records in a very specific set of contexts
