history as a social science is arguably more self reflective than associated disciplines in that family other social scientists seem to see little reason to look beyond the paradigm they are developing in the present times historians on the other hand tend to depend on the cumulative process of the development of their craft and the fund of accumulated knowledge yet while this is acknowledged in the practice of research historiography in itself as a subject of study has rarely found its place in the syllabi of indian universities knowledge of historiography is taken for granted when a scholar plunges into research in an attempt to address this lacuna the indian council of historical research ichr has planned a series of volumes on historiography comprising articles by subject specialists commissioned by the ichr the first volume in the series approaches to history essays in indian historiography brings to the readers the first fruits of that endeavour while the essays encompass areas of research presently at the frontiers of new research scholars will also find the bibliographies accompanying the essays of significant appeal twenty first century life is increasingly governed by artificial intelligence ai technologies such as machine learning big data analysis facial recognition and robotics for decades an ideology of apocalyptic progress and cosmic transformation has accompanied the advancement of ai in the united states that vision is intimately connected to transhumanism the idea that humanity can transcend its limits even mortality using technology based on contributions from science and science fiction advocates of such apocalyptic ai suggest that the world will soon see godlike machine intelligence and that human beings will upload their minds into immortal machine bodies the arrival of this ideology in india raises questions about how global cultures can contribute to ai technology and our beliefs about ai these beliefs have gained a foothold in indian visions of ai but they have not been accepted uncritically rather indian scientists and futurists revise the transhumanist vision and illustrate how traditional hindu values can add to the global perspective by describing the arrival and reconfiguration of transhumanist ideas in india this book reveals how the nexus of religion and technology contributes to public life and our modern self understanding while suggesting that the apocalyptic approach to ai should be tempered by other visions by tracing the movement of apocalyptic ai into india and exploring indian efforts to redefine those transhumanist aspirations futures of artificial intelligence opens the door for rethinking our global approach to ai and advocates for technologies and visions of technology that advance human flourishing
