psychoanalysis and the new rhetoric freud burke lacan and philosophy's other scenes is an innovative work that places the fields of psychoanalysis and rhetoric in dynamic resonance with one another the book operates according to a compelling interdisciplinary conceit adleman provocatively explores the psychoanalytic aspects of rhetoric and vanderwees probes the rhetorical dimensions of psychoanalytic practice this thoroughly researched text takes a closer look at the missed encounter between rhetoric and psychoanalysis the first section of the book explores the massive but underappreciated influence of freudian psychoanalysis on kenneth burke s new rhetoric the book s second section undertakes sustained investigations into the rhetorical dimensions of psychoanalytic concepts such as transference free association and listening psychoanalysis and the new rhetoric then culminates in a more comprehensive discussion of lacanian psychoanalysis in the context of kenneth burke s new rhetoric the book therefore serves as an invaluable aperture to the fields of psychoanalysis and rhetoric including their much overlooked disciplinary entanglement psychoanalysis and the new rhetoric will be of great interest to scholars of psychoanalytic studies rhetoric language studies semiotics media studies and communication studies the major aim of this work is to help clarify the interrelationships of catfishes with major implications on the study of the general evolution of these fishes a great part of this work therefore deals with a cladistic analysis of catfish higher level phylogeny based on extensive morphological data in which are included some terminal taxa not in ghost words and invisible giants lheisa dustin engages psychoanalytic theory to describe the language of suffering of iconic modernist authors h d and djuna barnes tracing disconnection psychic splitting and virulent thought patterns in creative works that have usually been read as intentionally enigmatic dustin imbricates barnes and h d s sense of tenuous psychic boundaries with others parent figures otherworldly and divine beings and ambivalent or malignant love objects in their creative brilliance suggesting that the writers works stage and also help manage their psychic suffering in language in which signifier the sound or image of the word and signified what it means are radically disconnected the cryptic and ineffable styles of these texts thus involve attempts to embody the meanings that cannot be expressed through language dustin reads two of h d s later works as examples of language that does not differentiate words thoughts and people from one another and instead tries to include everything in its formulations of meaning however h d she argues also seeks an end to this mental proliferation an end that she associates with the hallucinatory return of difference as such in contrast dustin reads two novels by barnes as invoking and denying childhood secrets through the use of fetishized words to supplement her psychoanalytic readings dustin considers the authors familial and romantic histories and their broader social involvements or noninvolvement for instance h d s occultist practices and psychoanalytic sessions barnes s fascination with spectacle and her later reclusion rendering a detailed and compelling analysis of the forces at play beneath enigmatic difficult modernist literary works read in this light the spectral and otherworldly figures and strange patterns of expression appearing in h d s and barnes s writing and perhaps much of our writing signal the traumatic content that it tries to negate this book brings jacques lacan s work on the problem of anxiety into a jarring and fruitful confrontation with phenomenology existentialism and the jargon of authenticity brian robertson masterfully upends a host of received philosophical truths most notably and crucially the idea that anxiety lacks an object
