excerpt from a new and complete concordance to the holy scriptures on the basis of cruden the question may reasonably be proposed why add another to the many works of the kind already published in reply the following explanations are subjoined a perfectly complete concordance would be one by which any passage of the bible might be found by any word which the passage sought for contained but such a concordance though perfect in completeness would be so large and unwieldy as in a great measure to defeat its own utility accordingly cruden omits many of the minuter words from his columns of reference and not unfrequently words of considerable consequence to the passages which contain them the london edition of 1836 is before me and selecting a passage at random i find that the 17th verse of the 49th psalm is vainly sought by any of the words printed in italics for when he dieth he shall carry nothing away his glory shall not descend after him see in like manner john 21 13 jesus then cometh and taketh bread and giveth them and fish likewise many such examples will present themselves in the familiar use of his concordance no doubt the passages may generally be found without difficulty by means of some other term embodied in them or their immediate context but that just shows what i am now wishing to establish that cruden himself very properly proceeds to a great extent on the principle of harmless abbreviation in the desire however to make his concordance what it professes to be complete he has crowded many pages with words of inferior moment by which it may be safely averred the portions of scripture to which they belong are seldom if ever consulted in all ordinary cases then these supernumerary references obstruct instead of promoting a prompt and ready access to the passages desired might not an important service then be rendered to scriptural knowledge by reducing cruden's work as much as possible in its dimensions so as to render it less cumbersome and less costly without materially impairing its actual usefulness it did not appear that the design was quite satisfactorily accomplished by any of the minor concordances already in existence brown's concordance is so small as to be quite inadequate bagster's by referring only to chapters and verses without introducing any of the words leaves the inquirer uncertain in which of all the localities referred to he is to find what he is seeking butterworth gives the reference sometimes with and some times without quotations thus occasioning to a considerable degree the same sort of perplexity and all the other abridgments which there was an opportunity of examining appeared liable to some such objections hence the present work was undertaken and the religious community will judge how far it was required and how far it is fitted to supply the deficiency about the publisher forgotten books publishes hundreds of thousands of rare and classic books find more at forgottenbooks.com this book is a reproduction of an important historical work forgotten books uses state of the art technology to digitally reconstruct the work preserving the original format whilst repairing imperfections present in the aged copy in rare cases an imperfection in the original such as a blemish or missing page may be replicated in our edition we do however repair the vast majority of imperfections successfully any imperfections that remain are intentionally left to preserve the state of such historical works excerpt from a new and complete concordance to the holy scriptures on the basis of cruden s as respects the plan followed abbreviations have been made not only by the erasure as already stated of superfluous references but also by omitting explanations of words as being more appropriate to a dictionary than a concordance by contracting quotations while careful not to obscure them and by excluding wholly the concordance to the apocrypha as i suggested the work at first and held deliberations with the publishers about the nature and advantages of it they solicited me to write these introductory observations though i had no participation in the subsequent labours the first part was executed by a relative of my own and also occasional portions afterwards amounting in all to about one fifth of the whole the rest is the performance exclusively of my esteemed friend the rev j ohh eadie of cambridge street secession church glasgow in such a production it may be easy to find faults or to propose amendments but from the care which has been bestowed upon the undertaking the strongest hopes are entertained that it will give general satisfaction and as an humble help to the knowledge of god s word conduce to the freedom of its course that it may be glorified it may be specially serviceable to ministers preachers and students in travelling when they cannot conveniently carry a larger concordance with them to private families who have too much regarded such an auxiliary to biblical attainment as a concomitant of some official station to the teachers and even the pupils of sabbath schools by enabling them to compare scripture with itself and adduce readily the passages by which its doctrines may be proved and may he who alone can communicate saving efficacy to any means of doing good command on this instrumentality the blessing from on high that ignorance may be dispelled enmity subdued and his own word grow mightily and prevail about the publisher forgotten books publishes hundreds of thousands of rare and classic books find more at forgottenbooks.com this book is a reproduction of an important historical work forgotten books uses state of the art technology to digitally reconstruct the work preserving the original format whilst repairing imperfections present in the aged copy in rare cases an imperfection in the original
