more than fifty specialists have contributed to this new edition of volume 4 of the cambridge bibliography of english literature the design of the original work has established itself so firmly as a workable solution to the immense problems of analysis articulation and coordination that it has been retained in all its essentials for the new edition the task of the new contributors has been to revise and integrate the lists of 1940 and 1957 to add materials of the following decade to correct and refine the bibliographical details already available and to re shape the whole according to a new series of conventions devised to give greater clarity and consistency to the entries this book is a powerful exploration of the role of women in the evolution of african thinking and narratives on development from the precolonial period right through to the modern day whilst the book identifies women s oppression and marginalization as significant challenges to contemporary africa s advancement it also explores how new written narratives draw on traditional african knowledge systems to bring deep rooted and sometimes radical approaches to progress the book asserts that africans must tell their own stories expressed through the complex meanings and nuances of african languages and often conveyed through oral traditions and storytelling in which women play an important role the book s close examination of language and meaning in the african narrative tradition advances the illumination and elevation of african storytelling as part of a viable and valid knowledge base in its own right rather than as an extension of european paradigms and methods anthonia c kalu s new edition of this important book fully revised throughout will also include fresh analysis of the role of digital media education and religion in african narratives at a time when the prominence and participation of african women in development and sociopolitical debates is growing this book s exploration of their lived experiences and narrative contribution will be of interest to students of african literature gender studies development history and sociology
