what does the western city at the end of the twentieth century look like how did the modern metropolis of congestion and density turn into a posturban or even postsuburban cityscape what are edge cities and technoburbs how has the social composition of cities changed in the postwar era what do gated communities tell us about social fragmentation is public space in the contemporary city being privatized and militarized how can the urban self still be defined what role does consumer aestheticism have to play in this these and many more questions are addressed by this uniquely conceived multidisciplinary study the urban condition seeks to interfere in current debates over the future and interpretation of our urban landscapes by reuniting studies of the city as a physical and material phenomenon and as a cultural and mental arte fact the ghent urban studies team responsible for the writing and editing of this volume is directed by kristiaan versluys and dirk de meyer at the university of ghent belgium it is an interdisciplinary research team of young academics that further consists of kristiaan borret bart eekhout steven jacobson and bart keunen the collective expertise of gust ranges from architectural theory urban planning and art history to philosophy literary criticism and cultural theory for the first time urban theory and the urban experience brings together classic and contemporary approaches to urban research in order to reveal the intellectual origins of urban studies and the often unacknowledged debt that empirical and theoretical perspectives on the city owe to one another both students and urban scholars will appreciate the critical way in which classical and contemporary debates on the nature of the city are presented extensive use is made throughout of documentary literary and cultural sources to bring the different theoretical perspectives to life discussion points introduce and explain key concepts and intellectual histories in a jargon free manner end of chapter further readings have also been annotated to encourage additional study this book was first published in 1980 in this book the author has tried to establish the main guidelines of a determinate analysis of the phenomena of urbanization and planning in two principal stages firstly the attempt to identify something of the broad social structure and logic within which these phenomena are embedded and from which they ultimately draw their character second to attempt to discover in detail the ways in which these phenomena appear within society assume a specific internal order and change through time about the book no man is an island entire of itself every man is a piece of the continent a part of the main the same applies to the elderly persons however society tends to keep them aside from active life either due to genuine concern or out of prevailing norms and typify them into a distinct category what is needed is a perspective shift from viewing the elderly as a burden to acknowledging their contributions to society there is no denying the inevitability of an age quake preparedness is half the battle won which will pave the path for celebration of the golden years of life the 1835 municipal reform act is both a consequence and a continuation of the 1832 reform act by dealing with those citadels of torysm that were the municipal corporations the whigs not only wanted to confirm their electoral victory but also to reform the local system that had been largely criticised for decades preceding the reform a thorough investigation was conducted by a group of twenty commissioners young liberal or radical lawyers who visited 285 municipal corporations in england and wales after public hearings they wrote for each borough a detailed report which provided an accurate picture of the municipal institutions and their functioning over the preceding decades in describing the political organisation the administration the legal and law enforcement functions the reports showed that the municipal corporations were areas of privileges beyond the overview provided by those in favour of reform of a system at breaking point the reports while taking into account local situations measured the role played in urban management by municipal corporations after an extensive campaign and several petitions the parliamentary debate resulted in a compromise bill that aimed at reforming only the main royal boroughs small towns as well as large industrial cities which had not been granted the royal charter of incorporation were not affected by the reform though it carefully treated certain former institutions the municipal reform fundamentally altered the way administration was run and marked the end of the urban ancient regime in england and in wales
