problem based learning pbl has been deployed as a student centered instructional approach and curriculum design in a wide range of academic fields across the world the majority of educational research to date has focused on knowledge based outcomes addressing why pbl is useful researchers of pbl are developing a growing interest in qualitative research with a process driven orientation to examining learning interactions it is essential to broaden this research base so as to support pbl designs and approaches to leading students into higher order thinking and a deeper approach to learning interactional research into problem based learning explores how students learn in an inquiry led approach such as pbl included are studies that focus on learning in situ and go beyond measuring the outcomes of pbl the goal is to further expand the pbl research base of qualitative investigations examining the social dimension and lived experience of teaching and learning within the pbl process a second aim of this volume is to shed light on the methodological aspects of researching pbl adding new perspectives to the current trends in qualitative studies on pbl chapters cover ethnographic approaches to video analysis introspective protocols such as stimulated recall and longitudinal qualitative studies using discourse based analytic approaches specifically this book will further contribute to the current educational research both theoretically and empirically in the following key areas students learning processes in pbl over time and across contexts the nature of quality interactions in pbl tutorials the inter cultural aspects of learning in pbl facilitation processes and group dynamics in synchronous and asynchronous face to face and blended pbl and the developing nature of pbl learner identity in this book we respond to a higher education environment that is on the verge of profound changes by imagining an evolving and agile problem based learning ecology for learning the goal of doing so is to humanise university education by pursuing innovative approaches to student learning teaching curricula assessment and professional learning and to employ interdisciplinary methods that go far beyond institutional walls and include student development and support curriculum sustainability research and the scholarship of teaching and learning as well as administration and leadership an agile problem based learning pbl ecology for learning deliberately blurs the boundaries between disciplines between students and teachers between students and employers between employers and teachers between academics and professional staff between formal and informal learning and between teaching and research it is based on the recognition that all of these elements are interconnected and constantly evolving rather than being discrete and static throughout this book our central argument is that there is no single person who is responsible for educating students rather it is everyone s responsibility teachers students employers administrators and wider social networks inside and outside of the university agile pbl is about making connections rather than erecting barriers in summary this book is not about maintaining comfort zones but rather about becoming comfortable with discomfort the actual implementation is beyond the scope of this book and we envisage that changing perceptions towards this vision will itself be a mammoth task however we believe that the alternative of leaving things as they are would ultimately prove untenable and more distressingly would leave a generation of students afraid to think feel and act for themselves let alone being able to face the challenges of the 21st century
