this book offers a reassessment of argumentation in classical rhetoric foregrounding its rational dimension moving beyond introductions it provides insights from aristotle quintilian and other ancient thinkers while addressing common misconceptions and offering clarifications that are particularly valuable for the rhetorical critic adopting a scandinavian rhetorical perspective this book argues that classical rhetoric offers enduring tools for both the analysis and the construction of persuasive argumentation by bridging theory and practice it demonstrates how classical rhetoric remains highly relevant while also naturally integrating with analyses that focus on classical concepts such as ethos pathos or style whether through neo aristotelian methods or contemporary approaches rooted in the classical rhetorical tradition key concepts are explored in dedicated chapters the art of logos based argumentation is reassessed enthymeme and epicheireme structures are examined and topoi and staseis are discussed in relation to their later developments a chapter on the centenary of rhetorical criticism traces its evolution from herbert wichelns 1925 to today proposing a new template for the rhetorical critic this concise yet comprehensive book will interest intermediate and advanced students as well as scholars of rhetoric argumentation persuasion speech and writing studies and communication studies proof is the property of a disputed fact being established inferentially from an extant fact this book explicates the structural components of this phenomenon in the context of hate crimes across various jurisdictions around the world it departs from the orthodox conception of evidence and proof as being a general value neutral or non normative and epistemic subject and offers a relativistic conception of this area of law the core argument is that proof is both semantically and methodologically determined by three conditions of materiality process and probativity this argument is then justified by the context specific application of this relativistic theory of proof to hate crimes this theoretical application of proof is sustained throughout the book using multiple examples and illustrations of hate crimes around the world the discussion both at the level of proof and hate crimes while focusing on the grounds of race religion and ethnicity specifically is framed in jurisprudential cross jurisdictional and interdisciplinary terms the book will be of interest to academics and researchers working in the areas of criminal law legal philosophy and procedural law
